

Armack.

Martin Armack, the son of August and Agnes Armack, was born in Decatur, Adams county, Indiana, March 3, 1861, and died in New Point, Mo., March 3, 1920, the very day he was 59 years of age. When yet a small boy his parents came to this county, and here he grew to manhood, and met and married Ollie M. Boswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Boswell, in 1887. Five children were born to this union, two of whom died in infancy, and one son, Robert Sterling, who died just two days before his father, and whose obituary was in last week's Sentinel. Two children, Mrs. Beulah Poland, of Kendrick, Colo., and Clifford Martin, about 12 years of age, with their mother remain to mourn the departure of father and husband; also three grandchildren, whose mother was the wife of the son, Robert. One brother and seven sisters also survive their brother: Henry, of Mound City, Mo.; Mrs. Annie Nowland, of Oklahoma; Amelia Karns, Rosie Fuller, Mary Karns and Emma Smith, all of Mound City, Mo.; Mrs. Ida Penny, of Maitland, and Mrs. Eliza Spangler, of Decatur, Ind.

Some years ago the subject of this sketch removed with his family to Western Kansas, and then just over the line into Nebraska and thence to Colorado, where they resided some eight years.

Early last fall, Mr. Armack, wife and young son returned to New Point, and moved into the house with Mrs. Armack's father and mother for the purpose of looking after the old people in their advancing years. But death often comes one's well devised plans, as in this case, one of the care-takers taken away and the other, at this writing, battling for her life with the great enemy, death. About three weeks ago their son, Robert, wife and three little girls came from Colorado to visit their parents and possibly to make their future home here, and only a little while after their arrival all the family were taken sick with the flu as mentioned in last week's issue of The Sentinel. Three deaths in one home within one week is not a very common record to be made, as in this case.

After the death of Mr. Shunk, some weeks ago, Mr. Armack took up the work as janitor of Consolidated School District, No. 6, and rendered very efficient service in that position. He was a man that did not seem to be afraid of hard work and to make himself useful wherever there was need. But his work is done and he has gone to his rest.

Friday afternoon, March 5, 1920, the remains of Mr. Armack, as in the case of the son, were taken to the Cowan cemetery, where short services were conducted by Rev. T. D. Roberts, and laid to rest there near the body of his son, Robert.

—T. F. Pebley, of Craig, was here, Thursday of last week, looking after matters pertaining to the Wm. Lipps estate, as the executor.

STATE FAIR DATES

ARE AUGUST 14-21

20th Annual Exhibition Will Be Better Than Ever.

Missouri's State Fair will be held in Sedalia, August 14-21 this year, according to an announcement made by Secretary E. G. Bylander on his return from a meeting of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions in Chicago. The Missouri exhibition will "open the circuit" of Middle West Fairs, as usual. "We are announcing the dates at this time so that local committees in charge of County Fairs, Chautauquas, Old Settlers' Reunions and similar events can keep the State Fair dates in mind and not arrange any counter attractions in the state during that week," said Mr. Bylander.

"The 1920 State Fair, which is Missouri's twentieth annual exhibition, will be even better than last year's," he continued. "We want to focus the attention of the whole state upon it. The 1919 State Fair broke all records for attendance; but we will have so many better attractions this year that we are confident a new high mark of success will be set. With the co-operation of County Fair and Chautauqua committees I am sure this can be brought about."

One outstanding feature of the 1920 Fair will be the "White City" camp grounds, which are to be big enough to accommodate thousands of visitors. Arrangements will be made to allow campers from any town or county in the state to have their tents located in a "community group" in the beautiful eighty-acre camping park. Large delegations of campers are expected from every county within a hundred miles or more of Sedalia.

Attended Funeral.

Reed Bailey and sister, Miss Grace, were in Langdon last Sunday, in attendance at the funeral of their cousin, James, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bailey, who died at the family home in Langdon, Thursday, March 4. The young man was 27 years of age, and is survived by his parents, two brothers and many other relatives. He was also an ex-service man, having been over-seas for a number of months during the late war with Germany, and was a most excellent young man. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

—Isaac Wince, the pill maker, was at Red Oak, Iowa, over Sunday, for a visit with his mother.

The Man We want to Sell an Easter Suit to Is About Your Build.

He's a 38 Short--a 42 Regular--a 35 Slim--or a 46 Stout.

He is 16, 31, 53, or 72--weighs 120 to 260 pounds and is as particular about what he gets as a Fire Insurance Adjuster is about what he gives.

We want to look this man in the eye, show him our clothes--tell him our prices--interest him if we can--thank him for coming in, if we can't.

We have the right goods, the fair values--we understand human nature--and there is no embarrassment if he wants to look further.

When may we expect him? That's up to you.

Easter is April 4th.

That Is What Matters.

What does it matter, O heart of mine, As the daylight fades away, If the day holds more of storm or shine,

If the skies were blue or grey?

What does it matter if tasks and cares Left but little time for song, If your chosen work is unfinished still, If the things you planned went wrong?

O heart of mine, If you did your best, That is what matters, And you may rest.

What does it matter, O heart of mine, When the day of life is done, If the world shall praise you or malign, If the prize is lost or won?

What does it matter if others passed With a swifter, sure pace, While your tired feet stumbled upon the road And you failed to win the race?

O heart of mine, If you did your best That is what matters, And you may rest.

CIGARETTES
They Satisfy

Poorly Paid Teachers.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 3.—School executives, seeing an educational crisis in the low salaries offered teachers in country and city schools, are seeking a solution of the menace.

Two remedies are being considered. One will afford immediate relief; the other is a cure for all school ills. It will be an amendment to the state's constitution, providing for an increased levy for school purposes.

The teacher shortage in the state is so grave at present that immediate relief is felt to be urgently needed. The temporary relief, it is planned, will come through the State Board of Equalization, which will be asked to make valuation of property, as will give the schools of the state the maximum income to operate on until permanent relief measures can be provided.

If the State Equalization Board performs its work in the manner directed by a group of 2,000 farmers, who, in a convention at Columbia recently, adopted a resolution approving the teachers' protest against low salaries, funds sufficient to meet lower living costs will be in the hands of school boards for the next school year.

First Methodist Church.

Several absentees were noted from Sunday school last Sunday—some sick, some were out of town and some were ????. There was quite a good attendance and interest at evening. The Epworth League, Sunday evening, was especially interesting. Young people who are not as yet members of our young people's society are cordially invited to attend the meetings and become members. A beginning was made Sunday afternoon in the special plans outlined for the next few months for our church activities. It is the hope that all who are assigned any special work will gladly respond.

The pastor will be absent over next Sunday, but when he returns he will call a meeting of the special committees and leaders.

The W. F. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Morris, Friday afternoon of last week. Full account of the meeting in another column.

Program of the services for Sunday, March 14:

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Program under the auspices of the Missionary society at 11 a. m. See program in this issue.

Young people's meeting, 6:30 p. m. Preaching, 7:30 p. m., by Rev. Feldmann.

All the members and friends are urged to be present at all services next Sunday if possible, and to invite others.
